

Eastern Sicily

Catania – Messina – Enna – Ragusa – Syracuse

One of the first Mediterranean holiday destinations, Sicily is the most richly endowed island in the Mediterranean, steeped in history and legend and in every respect an island of contrasts.

Catania is the dynamic and fashionable second city of Sicily. The city boasts one of the greatest Roman ruins - the Amphitheatre in Piazza Steseicoro - and has the fabulous baroque Piazza del Duomo and the Cathedral of Santa Agatha where the composer Bellini is buried. The coastline between Catania and Taormina has many fishing villages like Acireale with excellent restaurants serving a variety of sea food.

1 UNESCO World Heritage sites

The baroque cathedral in Noto; Villa Romana del Casale; the towns of Caltagirone, Militello in Val di Catania, Catania, Modica, Palazzolo Acreide, Ragusa and Scicli; the Aeolian Islands; Syracuse; Mount Etna, and the Cathedral churches of Cefalù and Monreale.

2 Best Beaches

Six Sicilian beaches have been awarded blue flag status for their water being among Europe's cleanest. They are: Porto Paolo (Menfi); Pozzallo (Ragusa); Ispica (Ragusa); Fiumefreddo-Cottone (Catania); Spiaggia Bianca (Lipari); Marina di Ragusa (Ragusa).

3 Mpanatigghi di Modica

Typical cakes from the Ragusa province, traditionally made during Easter, are filled with Modica chocolate and fine mince meat! For chocaholics, a visit to the 'Antica Dolceria Bonaiuto' cake shop in Modica is a must.

4 Arancini

These fried and breadcrumb-coated rice balls are either filled with meat, tomato sauce or mozzarella, and are the Sicilian snack of choice. Try one - you won't be disappointed.

Mount Etna

Wherever you are, Mount Etna, Europe's tallest active volcano at 3,320m, towers above. The fertile volcanic soils support extensive agriculture with vineyards and orchards spread across the lower slopes and the broad plane of Catania to the south.

UNA Palace Hotel, Catania

UNA Hotel Palace is housed within an elegant turn-of-the-century building in the heart of Catania along Via Etnea, the city's main shopping street. Traffic is restricted in this area but guests arriving by car can park in the street behind the hotel. This modern hotel has a stunning rooftop terrace, American bar and restaurant serving traditional Sicilian cuisine. It cannot be beaten for its central location which gives easy access to the major sites, museums, and historic of the city.

Follow in the footsteps of Inspector Montalbano and beyond

Itinerary: 8 days / 7 nights

Inspector Montalbano is a fictional character created by the Sicilian writer Andrea Camilleri in a series of novels and short stories. The character was then adapted for TV. The main character lives and works in the fictional town of Vigàta, in the equally fictional district of Montelusa. Our suggested itinerary follows in the footsteps of the Italian detective and visits some of the most important historical sites to be found in the south eastern corner of Sicily.

Day One: On arrive, collect your hire car and drive to your hotel.

Day Two: Visit the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Scicli (17km) which is full of wonderful baroque architecture. The Montalbano TV series is set in Scicli which doubles as the fictional town of Vigàta. Visit the town hall (Municipio) - Montalbano's office (Commissariato di Vigàta). The Palazzo Iacono on via Mormino Penna, a few metres away, represents the Questura of Montelusa (Police station).

Day Three: Head to the Castello di Donnafugata (37km), a neo-gothic mansion that dates back to the 1800's. The house is the fictional home of Balduccio Sinagra, the local mafia boss, who meets Inspector Montalbano in the episode 'Excursion to Tindari'. En route to Ragusa, stop at Grotta delle Trabacche, an ancient cemetery from the Roman period, where Montalbano finds two dead bodies in the episode 'The Terracotta Dog'.

Continue on to Ragusa Ibla and have lunch (not included) at La Rusticana which is the 'Trattoria San Calogero' in the series, on Corso XXV Aprile, where Montalbano normally lunches. Visit the town's main square, Duomo di San Giorgio, which doubles as Vigàta's fictional square. Stroll through the characterful streets, steeped in baroque architecture.

Day Four: Spend time in Modica (9km), another baroque jewel which is also the setting for many episodes. Take time to enjoy some of Modica's delights including the local dark chocolate produced from an ancient Aztec recipe.

Day Five: Drive to Syracuse (75km), a former Greek city which boasts many ancient artefacts from the period. Visit the island of Ortigia which has an enchanting historical centre dominated by its Cathedral (Duomo), with a dramatic baroque façade.

Day Six: Visit the Villa Romana del Casale in Piazza Armerina (111km). This Roman manor house, declared a UNESCO World Heritage Site, boasts the largest, most complex collection of Roman mosaics in the world, many of which have been recently restored. Spend the afternoon in Caltagirone (31km), noted for its Sicilian ceramics industry which dates back over a thousand years.

Day Seven: Day at leisure. Enjoy some last minute shopping or simply relax by the pool.

Day Eight: Drive to Catania airport for your return flight home.

Delicious Sicily

Itinerary: 8 days / 7 nights

Wine has been made in Sicily since ancient times. The soil and climate are ideal for the purpose and most farmers and smallholders would have had their own vineyard, producing wine for the family. Many varieties of grape are now cultivated and many different wines produced in what has become a wine-lover's paradise.

Day One: Arrive at Catania airport, collect your hire car and drive to Modica (117km).

Day Two - Dinner at Il Granaio: Day at leisure - spend the day visiting some of the island's most important Baroque towns, notably Noto, Modica, Ragusa Ibla and Syracuse (Ortigia Island), located in the south eastern corner of Sicily. Opportunity to taste the rich dark chocolate produced in Modica following ancient Aztec recipes and the delicious local cakes and pastries with their unique flavours. Enjoy a home-cooked meal at Il Granaio's restaurant - local recipes prepared by the owner's mother.

Day Three: Day at leisure. Drive to Piazza Armerina (116km) and visit the ancient Villa Romana del Casale, a UNESCO World Heritage Site. This fabulous Roman Villa contains a collection of some of the most important, well-preserved mosaics in the world.

Day Four: Day at leisure. After breakfast, drive to your next property in Menfi (231km). This picturesque, family-run winery is located in Sambuca di Sicilia in the Valle dei Belice, on Sicily's west coast. During the harvest season (Aug-Sep), guests are invited to participate in the winemaking process. En-route stop off in Agrigento to visit the impressive Valley of the Temples. This ancient, archaeological park has six Greek Temples including one of the best preserved Doric Temples in the world.

La Foresteria cooking class

Day Five - Dinner at La Foresteria: Day at leisure. Take a cooking class, led by Chef Angelo Pumilia, using recipes from 'Sicilia, the cooking of Casa Planeta' cookbook. In the evening enjoy some wine tasting and an intimate meal in the substantial wine cellar.

Day Six: Day at leisure. Visit the Cantine Florio in Marsala (60km). The Woodhouses, the Inghams and the Whitakers were late 18th century English traders and merchants who became wealthy through exporting Marsala wine to England and the United States. They fortified the local wine with alcohol, using the Spanish solera system, thus enabling it to survive the long sea journey back to England and across the Atlantic. This was hugely successful and their successors continue to this present day, although there are no longer any members of the family left in Sicily. At the Cantine Florio, one can still admire (framed on a wall) Nelson's original order for wine for the Royal Navy, with which it was understandably very popular, signed by him as Duke of Bronte. After the Battle of Trafalgar it became, for a time, known as 'Victory Wine'.

Day Seven: Day at leisure. Visit La Planeta family cellars and oil mills for tastings and lunch (payable locally), or head to the coast to sunbathe on Menfi's 10km stretch of sandy beach.

Day Eight: After breakfast, drive to Palermo airport (108km) for your return flight home.

*Guide price based on 2-sharing includes:

- Flights from London Gatwick to Catania and returning from Palermo (other airports on request)
- 8 days car hire (one-way drop off fee payable locally)
