Myrto's beach

Kefalonia

Kefalonia is the largest of the Ionian group of islands. Lying midway between Corfu and Zakynthos, it is an island that rewards exploration many times over with its dramatic scenery, distinctive traditions, fine beaches, and unspoiled way of life. The sheer variety Kefalonia offers the visitor is one reason why so many return.

The Kefalonian landscape is stunning. Mountains soar to over 1600 metres; beaches range from long stretches of the finest golden sand to tiny white-pebble coves; pine forests swathe the hillsides; whilst in the fertile valleys, olive and citrus are cultivated. The whole is lapped by the bluest of seas. Like all the Ionian islands, Kefalonia is at its best in the springtime and early summer when the wild flowers are literally brilliant.

There is so much to see on the island that car hire is almost essential at some stage as the local bus services are limited. The northern coastal road reveals dizzy vistas of cliff and sea, the classic view being of glistening Myrto's Beach far below. (Watch out for goats on the road here!). A little further on is Assos – another photo-stop with village, peninsula and fortress. On the northern tip is the chocolate-box fishing village of Fiscardo, facing Ithaca. Sleepy Agia Efimia on the north-east coast remains authentically Greek. It has some fine tavernas and a good choice of sheltered, pretty pebble beaches nearby. It is close to the small town of Sami, from where the ferry-boat runs to Ithaca.

The south is dominated by Mount Aenos, the highest peak on the island, although the coastal views here are gentler. A myriad of small villages skirts the lower slopes of the mountain, and the road eventually brings you to the burgeoning resort of Scala with its long sandy beach.

The capital, Argostoli, is a modern, bustling town with wide streets lined with palms, a wonderful main square and some excellent restaurants. The two museums here are worth visiting. Kefalonia's second town (and Argostoli's arch rival), Lixouri, lies across the strait and is best reached by one of the frequent ferry boats which ply between the two.

Elsewhere there are underground caves to explore, hidden monasteries to seek out, and numerous simple village tavernas to sample (along with the excellent local wine!).

Of course, beaches are never far away, but we stress that Kefalonia should be explored to get the most from your holiday.

Fiscardo

Our chosen areas...

North East Kefalonia Agia Efimia & Sami

Transfer time 1 hour

Friendly Agia Efimia has, over the years, developed from a sleepy backwater into the colourful little port it is today. It has, however, lost none of its welcoming village feel, and enjoys an authentically Greek atmosphere. It is at the northern end of Sami Bay, and looks across to Ithaca.

To either side of the village are a number of dazzlingly white pebble coves which shelve into the clearest of water, making for fine swimming and snorkelling.

The village has plenty of other restaurants and several café-bars lining the long quayside. There is often a flotilla in, adding to the convivial evening atmosphere. Small shops, mini-markets and the village bakery provide most things you should need. Motorboats can be hired (see panel) and there is a diving school. Organised trips include the islands of Lefkas and Ithaca by boat and an island tour by coach.

Between Agia Efimia and Sami, some 6 kms to the south, is a further string of pristine beaches. Sami is larger and the port from which ferries will take you to Ithaca in as little as 20 minutes. Near Sami are the caves of Melissani and Drogarati, one of which is famed for its stalagmites, the other for an underground lake (fun to be rowed across by a local boatman).

Agia Efimia and Sami are good bases from which to explore the whole of the north. Reasonable road links mean that Argostoli can be reached in under an hour, and the north-west coast in 20-25 minutes.

North Kefalonia Fiscardo

Transfer time 90 minutes

The north of Kefalonia is a land of rolling, heavily wooded hills (cypress and pine predominating here over olive), gleaming white-pebble beaches, and some of the island's prettiest villages.

Fiscardo is most picturesque and upmarket. Located on the island's north-eastern tip, it gazes dreamily to Ithaca.

The pastel colours of the old fishermen's houses along the waterfront – now housing restaurants, smart cafés and small shops – contrast with bright splashes of bougainvillea, whilst fishing boats jostle with yachts for the prime moorings. Inevitably Fiscardo gets busy in the high season.

There are beaches, such as the peaceful Foki Bay some 20 minutes' from the harbour.

Due to its location Fiscardo is not best placed for general exploration. You can visit Ithaca of course, and also Lefkas for the day. But most visitors are happy to stay put; perhaps renting a small motorboat to explore the coastline and coves during the day before deciding which harbour restaurant to be tempted by that evening.

Lourdas

South Kefalonia Spartia • Lourdas

Transfer time 20-45 minutes

The southern coastline of Kefalonia boasts a string of safe sandy beaches, good views to Zakynthos, and the fabulous backdrop of Mount Aenos (at 1628m the highest peak in the Ionian). The area is understandably popular with couples and families alike, although development is rather scattered (there are no big hotels or large resorts here).

Spartia is an authentically sleepy whitewashed village on the hillside above the sea. Although only 15 kms from Argostoli, and just 10-12 kms from the airport and organised resort area of Lassi, Spartia has remained traditional and untouristic and feels very much off the beaten track. Close to its small square is a wholesome local taverna and two mini-markets.

Lush countryside all around makes Spartia good walking territory. Down by the sea (a mile via twisting country lane) is Spartia's fishing jetty, flanked by a small sandy beach to each side – the sea here is good for children as the sand shelves very gently into clear warm water.

Lourdas, halfway along the south coast, has a long white-sand beach (with some shingle outcrops) which stretches for the best part of a kilometre and shelves gently into the bluest of seas. Sunbeds can be rented, and some half-dozen tavernas and a mini-market are dotted along its length.

A stiff ten minute walk up the hill is the original village of Lourdata. It's an attractive little place, with a traditional plane-shaded square, three tavernas and a small shop or two.

For much of the year Lourdas is very laid-back and quiet. Not surprisingly it is popular with locals and can be busy during the day over long weekends and in the peak season. Recommended for a relaxed stay near an excellent beach, with some good local tavernas close to hand.

Both of our selected areas are, with a car, well placed for further exploration of the south. There are plenty of other good beaches and small inland villages in either direction, culminating in the larger seaside village of Skala almost at the south-eastern tip (the nearest thing there is to a 'resort' here), a 20-30 minute drive away. About the same journey time in the other direction is the attractive island capital of Argostoli.

Agia Efimia

Olive Bay Studios

Olive Bay Studios Agia Efimia

- Self Catering
- Studios for 2
- Pool use
- Air Conditioning
- Free WiFi

The Olive Bay opened in 2005 and offers good modern standards combined with an excellent location and wonderful views. They stand on the hillside above the sea on the edge of the village between the start of the harbour promenade and Paradisos beach, a five minute stroll from each. Only a minute's walk away is a handy, very pretty small white-pebble beach.

Our studios occupy the first and top floors. All are spacious and contain twin beds, a basic kitchenette with mini-oven and cooking rings, air-conditioning, a tiled shower/wc, and front balcony with fine views directly over the sea to Sami across the bay.

Furnishings are simple in a clean, modern style, and of good quality.

Guests here are welcome to use the swimming pool at the nearby Gonatas Hotel a five minute walk away, subject to the usual courtesy of buying a meal or refreshments from the hotel's restaurant.

Close to everything but quiet, with good-sized covered front balconies from which to admire the views, the Olive Bay Studios were much liked by our clients last year.

Air Conditioning and Safety Deposit box: Available at a local charge of 3 euros per day each.

Note: Olive Bay is not available during the period 28/7 – 31/8.

Gonatas Hotel

Gonatas Hotel Agia Efimia

- 3 Star
- Bed & Breakfast
- Air Conditioning
- Swimming Pool
- Free WiFi

Peacefully located above Agia Efimia bay, a short 10 minute walk to the north of the waterfront and only a minute or two from the pristine white pebbles of Paradisos beach, the Gonatas Hotel occupies a superb position and commands fabulous views across the sea to Sami.

Reception and lounge are on the first floor, reached by a number of steps. The hotel has only 25 with air-conditioning and fridge, and furnished in a simple light modern style with shower room and balcony. Most of ours possess both a double and a single bed. Our rooms are front-facing on the first or top floor and enjoy fine sea views from their balcony.

The ground floor houses a restaurant (note: may not operate early or late season) and you can dine by the pool overlooking over the bay.

The swimming pool is of a good size and popular with residents and non-residents alike.

The 10 minute walk to the village is a pleasant one, along a narrow undulating road which runs above the sea passing a number of other tempting pebble coves along the way. From the small harbour onwards you will find a good choice of tavernas, cafes and village shops.

The Gonatas is essentially a comfortable family-run and friendly small hotel, so although service can sometimes tend to the 'Greek' it is always willing. We think the location and views here are unbeatable in the area, and would certainly be the envy of many larger establishments.

In the colourful gardens to the front is a good-sized freshwater pool (60 sq.m., depth 1.0m.-1.80m.) with furnished terrace surrounds.

With hills behind, the valley in front, and trees all around, Vivi enjoys fresh green surroundings and rural views. A torch would be recommended for late night returns along the road from Agia Efimia, which has a slight incline.

Residence Poseidon is one of our most popular properties and attracts many repeat guests. Exceptionally well-kept, it offers high quality accommodation in tranquil surroundings above Kefalonia's south coast. Set on the lush hillside close to the traditional village of Spartia, its spacious walled grounds house pretty gardens, swimming pool and tennis court.

The 18 studios and apartments here are (with the exception of the cottage) housed in two buildings, one above the pool, one to the rear of the grounds. Sunvil's units have air conditioning (included), flatscreen sat TV with DVD, an open-plan or separate kitchen, shower room with hairdryer, and balcony or patio with garden, countryside, pool or sea views. All have light modern decor and good quality furnishings. Safety deposit boxes are supplied at reception.

Most are twin or double-bedded studios. The four superior studios in the front building situated above the pool have a well equipped kitchen with full cooker, a separate bedroom and a good-sized balcony offering lovely views over pool, gardens and countryside to mountains, coastline and sea. The ground floor houses the pool bar (not noisy).

The 2-bedroom apartments are on the top floor of the rear building. Each comprises a living room with open-plan kitchen area (full cooker), a twin and a double bedroom, shower room and two balconies with fine sea and mountain views. A folding bed for a child can be placed in the living room if required.

The 1-bedroom cottage is detached and set to one side. It comprises a living room with a full kitchen area and space for one or two extra beds, bathroom with bath and shower, and front double bedroom opening onto a terrace with views over lawn and tennis court to Mount Aenos, coastline and sea.

The large freshwater swimming pool measures some 120 sq m (depth 1m-2.50m) and has a children's section (depth 0.70m). WiFi access is available in certain areas at no charge. The tennis court to the side of the gardens is also free of charge and equipment may be hired. A laundry service is also available (local charge).

A five minute walk brings you to the unspoilt village of Spartia, with its church, square, two small grocery shops and taverna. Another taverna can be found enroute to Spartia's sandy beach, a 1500m walk down the hill (c.25 minutes down but allow longer back as it is steep in parts).

The lush hilly countryside and a network of small paths and lanes means there is good walking all around. However, for explorers and non-walkers car hire is recommended for easy access to a choice of beaches (some with water sports), other villages and the capital, Argostoli, which is only a twenty minute drive away.

Supplement for superior studio: £35 per studio per week.

Lourdas

Lourdas Beach Apartments Lourdas

- Self Catering
- Apartments for 2/3
- Air Conditioning
- Swimming Pool
- Early Booking Offer

Just back from the middle of Lourdas' fine beach, these apartments boast a magnificent infinity-style swimming pool.

The dozen studio-style apartments here all comprise a twin bedroom opening onto a terrace or balcony (all but one with sea views – see below); a small separate kitchen with fridge, microwave, grill and cooking rings; and a tiled shower room. A sofa-bed for a child is in the kitchen area, and all apartments have air-conditioning and safety deposit boxes available at a local charge.

Furnishings and décor are neat and simple in the modern Greek fashion. The apartments are either ground or first floor – however, as they are built on rising ground most are accessed by internal stairs from the upper level at the rear of the building and this may make them unsuited to those with mobility difficulties. But there are a couple of studios without steps (nos. 201 and 206) and two more (nos. 101 and 102) have balcony access directly to the garden, although their front doors are only accessed by stairs.

The beautiful infinity pool to the front is freshwater and measures 13m x 6m (depth 0.95m-1.70m) – cross the small beach road and you are directly on the sand. Waterfront Apartments Fiscardo

- Self Catering
- Apartments for 1/6 persons
- Air Conditioning
- Free WiFi
- Early Booking Offer

As the name suggests, these imposing apartments occupy an enviable location directly above the sea in this prettiest of villages. A large stone terrace fronts the building (once the oldest and grandest Venetian house in Fiscardo) from which you can swim. A small beach lies just a minute's walk away, and the harbour is no more than a five minute stroll around the headland.

The apartments are all different in layout and design. The small studio (no. 6) is for just one person; the 1-bedroomed apartments for two or, if a sofa-bed is used, three; the 2-bedrooms are for up to four; and the 3-bedroomed can sleep up to six. All are individually furnished with style and taste and possess air-conditioned bedrooms (included in the price), shower room with wc, a kitchen or a living room area (studio apart). Most are twin-bedded and enjoy beautiful views over the bay. The chalet-style 2-bedroom apartments on the top floor (nos. 1 and 2) have a balcony and sea view to the side. Those on the middle floors have a front sea view balcony, those at waterfront level have their own garden furniture on the spacious seafront terrace.

Waterfront Apartments are, in our unbiased opinion(!), the best of their type in Fiscardo – certainly you will not find a better location or views.

Note: Because the apartments are all different, space does not permit detailed individual descriptions – please see our website or call for details. Similarly, the prices should be used as a guide only as some may – due to their location in the building or differences in facilities, design and floor space – slightly differ in price. Please enquire.
