

Symi

Symi boasts one of the most atmospheric small harbour towns in the Aegean. Grand neoclassical houses and mansions, many once owned by wealthy sea captains of yore, line the horseshoe-shaped bay on three sides and climb the steep hill behind.

Symi Town has two parts – Chorio above and Yialos below, linked by a wide street and some 400 steps. Each has its own shops, tavernas and atmosphere, particularly so in the evenings when the lights of the town and waterfront restaurants reflect from the bay.

Beaches tend to the pretty pebble variety. Lapped by the clearest of seas they are most easily reached by one of the regular water-taxis that shuttle to and fro through the day. Boats also run to nearby islands and you can visit Turkey only 4 miles distant.

Symi Information

Getting To Symi

Wednesday flights from Gatwick, Manchester and a range of regional airports via Rhodes. Taxi transfer to Rhodes port (40 mins). Ferry to the island (1 hour), tickets included – there may be some waiting time at the port. Luggage transfer and short walk to your accommodation. On your return the reverse applies. For flight details see P173 (regional flight details on request).

Representative

We do not have our own local representative on Symi. Our hoteliers are happy to provide local information and our main agent in Rhodes can always be contacted if required.

Multi-Centre Options

With any other island served by flights to Rhodes e.g. Tilos, Halki, Karpathos. Tilos had a direct sea connection in 2011 which avoided travelling via Rhodes - however this is not guaranteed for 2012. Should mid-centre transfers be via Rhodes these can take most of the day but will allow time to explore Rhodes Old Town (luggage storage provided). See page 6.

Nireus Hotel Symi

■ 2 Stars Plus ■ Bed & Breakfast ■ Air Conditioning

The Nireus Hotel has been built in the neoclassical style and enjoys an unrivalled position on the waterfront, with commanding views across the entrance to Symi harbour.

The hotel has 36 nicely renovated rooms, and the ground floor houses the reception area, restaurant, bar and a lovely, spacious and sunny outside terrace with table and chairs where breakfast may be taken. The jetty to the front of the hotel acts as a lido, with sun beds and a ladder into the sea. The nearest beach is narrow Nos, a 10-15 minute walk away.

Rooms are spacious and tastefully furnished and decorated. All possess air conditioning, tv, fridge, telephone, safety deposit box, hairdryer and tiled shower room. Most are twin-bedded and those to the front have wonderful views over the bay from their balcony. The hotel also has rear rooms with views over the town to the hillside.
