Geirangerfjord

The fjords by public transport

The fjord region of Norway is a delight to tour with awe-inspiring views, glacial landscapes and fascinating museums at every turn.

A fly-drive holiday allows for individual exploration at a pace to suit individual requirements (see pages 88-89 for a suggested itinerary). However, over recent years we have received an increasing number of enquiries from clients wishing to travel around the region using public transport.

Below are details of the most popular holidays that can be arranged, using public transport.
