

IONIAN ISLANDS CORFU

An unspoilt interior; oranges, figs and wild pears; a coastline of small coves and limitless beaches; and a capital irresistibly Venetian.

Corfu Town

Nissaki

Large enough to have several different aspects, the range of Corfu's appeal extends from the energy of organised resorts to the stillness of serious birdwatching, from sharing a moment of timeless harmony in a taverna across from a white-washed church in a village square to relaxing quietly on a sheltered beach accessible only by boat.

Travellers have been drawn to Corfu for centuries – from the Phoenicians onwards, and perhaps even from the time of Poseidon himself – and its appeal has never diminished. Overlooked by the summit of Mount Pandokrator, the glorious “Emerald Isle” lies before you, a multi-faceted jewel of cypress trees and pine, pastel-coloured houses, olive groves, lemon trees and oranges, encircled by an azure sea.

Multi-Centre Options

Corfu with Paxos (Corfu first), or two resorts within Corfu.

Popular, spectacularly beautiful and cultured – Corfu has it all

NISSAKI

Situated on the picturesque north east coast of the island and 23km north of Corfu Town, the area is heavily wooded with pine and olive trees and in the foothills of Corfu's highest peak, Mount Pantokrator. This is not a busy location but there is a variety of good beachside tavernas and shops. Nightlife is modest compared to its neighbour Barbati but it is to be noted that Nissaki is an area rather than a village.

Nissaki boasts a variety of small coves of sparkling white shingle, excellent for swimming and snorkelling. A perfect area for hiring small motorboats. There are many traditional villages in the surrounding hills that are worth exploring and views from this area are across the bay to Corfu Town and to Albania.

BARBATI

The main village of Barbati with the usual restaurants, cafes and souvenir shops, which still manages to hang on to some traditional Greek charm, is along and above the main road which runs along the coast with small roads and tracks running down to the beach. It takes about 10 minutes to walk down (steep on the way up) from the main road to Barbati Blue Flag beach.

The beach lies 18 km north of Corfu town on the beautiful north east coast of the island and south of Glyfa and Nissaki. Mount Pantokrator rises steeply behind the resort to create a dramatic setting of white cliffs crowned by cypress and pine. The long white shingle beach with a few tavernas to one end and with views across to Corfu Town and the Albanian coast glistens in the sun. This is a perfect place for families and couples looking for a quiet beach holiday. The bay is sheltered and the crystal clear water shallow though it does drop off steeply some way out.

HALIKOUNAS BEACH

The south west coast of Corfu has many long stretches of sandy beach and the long stretch of Halikounas Beach with its extensive sand dunes protects Lake Korission from the sea.

The lake is 5km long and 1km wide at its centre and is a haven for over 100 species of birdlife, including great white egrets, oyster catchers and curlews. Turtles and tortoises abound.

Here there are no hotels or bars and the beach remains pristine and very safe for swimming as the waters are shallow for some distance. Even in the peak summer season this beach is uncrowded as it is difficult to reach unless by hired car.

Interestingly, various access points for wheelchairs have been provided. There are one or two cantina snack bars and a taverna. There are no umbrellas or sun beds for hire.

AGHIOS GORDIS

A 30 minute drive south west from Corfu Airport will bring you to this small and family friendly resort set below verdant hillsides and rugged cliffs. The sea here is crystal clear and Aghios Gordis is known for its spectacular sunsets. The Blue Flag, one kilometre long sandy beach with one or two shingle outcrops, is glorious and the resort behind provides everything you would need but is not rowdy. Most people here quietly relax on the beach during the day and frequent the many tavernas at night. The road ends on the beach in Aghios Gordis, so there is no through traffic. A perfectly balanced resort.

AVLAKI

Avlaki Beach lies 38 km north of Corfu town between Aghios Stephanos and Kassiope. This a pebbly beach with crystal clear waters but not particularly well known.

The beach is quiet and ideal for families. Two good tavernas line the beach. Watersports are a feature here, especially sailing and canoeing.

For a greater variety of restaurants, tavernas and bars Kassiope is only a few kilometres away.

PALEOKASTRITSA

For many, the craggy cliffs and soaring cypress trees of Paleokastritsa represent the best that Corfu has to offer. The view down from the mountain tops to the bay and the historic monastery of Paleokastritsa atop the hill of the peninsula reaching out into the bay must be one of the most famous in Corfu; some say in the whole of Greece.

Located in the northwest of Corfu and 25 km from Corfu Airport (40 minute drive), legend has it that Paleokastritsa (the old fortress) was the place that Odysseus disembarked to meet Nausica for the first time. The spectacularly located monastery dates from 1225 and contains a museum. The locals say that a rock, situated in the middle of the bay is the petrified ship of Odysseus.

Paleokastritsa has long been a popular resort and stretches along the coastal road, around beautiful bays to the picturesque harbour. Even though one of the main tourist areas in Corfu, nothing can detract from the stunning beauty of this region.

VILLA LENTZOS

AGHIOS GORDIS • CORFU

Villa Lentzos is a very pretty and immaculately kept villa set in a pretty garden above the small, family friendly resort of Aghios Gordis. It is the perfect location for couples or families looking for a beach holiday, as a 20 minute walk down the lane brings you to Aghios Gordis beach, a 1.5km stretch of sand and a choice of waterfront tavernas – the sunsets from the beach are exquisite.

If you don't fancy the beach, then you have your own pool set in a private walled garden. The property is very much a home away from home as Villa Lentzos is furnished like a private house by the owners who holiday at the property themselves.

The villa has every modern convenience and is surrounded by stunning scenery. The nearest taverna is a 15 minute walk. Corfu Town, the Island's capital and a UNESCO listed World Heritage Site is a 30 minute drive.

VILLA GREGORY

KALAMI BAY • CORFU

Well, you couldn't get much closer to the water. Sleepwalkers beware. Kalamí Bay is where the Durrells lived during their spell in Corfu and it is one of the magical and most sought after bays of Corfu.

The exterior of Villa Gregory is very much a typical Corfiot house but in 2015 the interior was completely renovated to create a chic, contemporary interior with the latest fittings. The villa is large, with the family bedroom having two double beds and a further single bed and a Juliet balcony just 5 metres from the water's edge.

The covered veranda which spans half the length of the waterfront side of the property is 'the' place to sit and read and watch the comings and goings of yachts in the bay with the sound of the sea lapping at your feet.

If you only swim in a pool, then you have full use of the large pool at the Kalamí Apartments which are 150 metres up the hill behind the villa.

The nearest taverna is 10 metres away. A car is included to enable you to explore the island, though not really necessary at this location.

VILLA SAIA

NEAR HALIKOUNAS BEACH • CORFU

Villa Saia is a real Corfiot idyll with traditional styling, a private pool and a sea view. It is an authentically Greek getaway in a quiet and unspoilt setting.

Outside, the large patio and grassy areas give you plenty of space for sunbathing, and the shaded veranda is great for long, lazy lunches on hot afternoons. In the evenings you can take a walk or short drive to three tavernas nearby, or drive to Moraitika on the east coast (you need a car hire as the beauty is the villa's relative remoteness).

Villa Saia is in one of the island's more rural areas; there are olive groves and vineyards nearby. This is a destination where you can get a feel for traditional island life and history, and mingle with the locals. Byzantine Gardiki Castle, the only remaining medieval fortress in the south of Corfu, is a short drive away – worth a visit. There are also great walking opportunities and sandy Halikounas beach is within 15 minutes' walk.
