

Destinations

The Aegean Islands

Samos pages 14-17

Close to Turkey, Samos is a refreshing combination of pine and olive, mountain and beach. It is large enough to offer plenty of variety, and has a special feel for walkers.

The Sporades Islands

Skopelos pages 18-33

Rich, green hillsides of pine and olive sweep down to enticing beaches. Skopelos is an island for those wanting to explore by boat, car and foot and to have a wide choice of intimate waterfront tavernas.

Alonissos pages 34-49

Slow and quiet, Alonissos appeals more to the escapist who wants the simple pleasures of a friendly community, unspoilt surroundings, deserted beaches and good tavernas.

Skiathos pages 50-57

Skiathos offers a colourful variety of spectacular beaches, well organised watersports, good Aegean food, relaxed or vibrant nightlife in town, wonderful scenery and a cosmopolitan atmosphere.

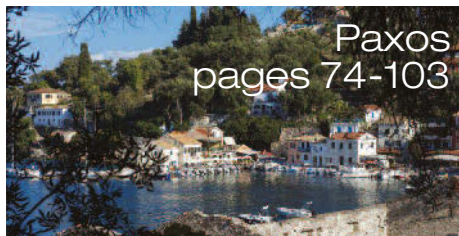

The Ionian Islands

Corfu pages 58-73

An undulating interior of olive and pine-clad hillsides hiding hamlets and villages. A beautiful coastline of small coves and large beaches. A capital of stunning Venetian architecture.

Paxos pages 74-103

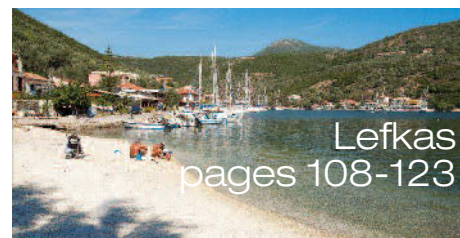

On an island 7 miles by 3 miles you are never far from anywhere. An undulating landscape of silver olives, many sheltered coves and pretty fishing villages – Paxos offers an enchanting escape from the crowds.

Antipaxos pages 104-107

The tiny satellite island, just one mile off Paxos, offers a rarely found Robinson Crusoe experience. Sandy beaches, valleys of vineyards and just four tavernas.

Lefkas pages 108-123

Lefkas will attract explorers to her green, mountainous interior and those wanting peaceful seclusion close to her beautiful beaches.

Meganissi pages 124-131

A beautiful, unspoilt island just off Lefkas' east coast. Deserted bays and a simple village lifestyle will appeal to those wanting to forget the outside world.

Weddings in Greece or Cyprus

Imagine small, friendly fishing villages, olive groves, beautiful beaches and sunlit azure waters. Turn your dream wedding into an unforgettable reality in any one of the romantic locations we can offer.

Through our in-house wedding planners we are able to provide tailor-made arrangements for those wanting a special wedding in Greece or Cyprus.

From a romantic, guitar-serenaded arrival at Corfu's historic town hall to a beach wedding on the beautiful island of Kefalonia or the opportunity to exchange your vows by the poolside of your private villa in Cyprus, we can offer a wealth of ideas ranging from the classic to the most unusual nuptial venues. Tailor-made advice and information is available regarding all types of wedding ceremonies and receptions with options to suit all tastes and budgets. Full support with legal paperwork is provided and personal consultations with couples always available.

Together with our sister company Survil Holidays we have one of the largest selections of accommodation in Greece and Cyprus to suit all tastes and budgets. The bride and groom may want to stay in one of our private villas (some of which can also host the reception) or a deluxe hotel, whereas some wedding guests may only want studio accommodation. Whatever the budget, we are ideally placed to provide the full package.

Ithaca
pages 132-147

Ithaca has remained untouched by tourism because, like Paxos, it has no airport and can only be reached by ferry from neighbouring islands or the mainland. A holiday in Ithaca is for those who seek a relaxed break in a friendly environment.

Kefalonia
pages 148-181

Kefalonia, the largest of the Ionian islands, is popular for its superb beaches and stunning scenery. Kefalonia caters for both the explorer and the seeker of variety.

Peloponnese
pages 182-187

About 75 minutes drive from the airport, Stoupa is a small, but growing resort with excellent sandy beaches and a wide choice of restaurants, bars and small shops.

Crete

pages 188-201

An island suited to those who want a more sophisticated choice of holiday activities. An extensive coastline of fishing villages, towns and beaches and a dramatic interior of unique beauty.

Cyprus

pages 202-209

An island of great diversity with something to please everyone from nature at its wildest to historical sites of great magnitude as well as a myriad of activities and international cuisine.
