

IONIAN ISLANDS
LEFKAS

Fertile and green, with sweeping mountains and a turquoise sea, Lefkas encapsulates the dramatic panorama of Greece.

Nidri Bay

An east coast beach

Across a canal originally excavated in 640BC, a swing-bridge joins the spectacular island of Lefkas to the Greek mainland. Twenty one miles long and nine miles wide, Lefkas is divided by the towering spine of Mount Stavratos, so that each corner of the island has its own character.

To the north, windswept dunes and ruined fortresses; to the west, magnificent beaches of perfect sand beneath steep limestone cliffs; the east, more sheltered, with honey-coloured beaches stretching as far as the eye can see.

Georgous countryside dotted with villages and crooked backstreets with multi-coloured houses in Lefkas town complete a magical picture.

A varied and beautiful landscape with very welcoming people

LEFKAS TOWN

The old town of Lefkas, located at the northern most tip of the island, is quite charming, with its mass of tiny streets and lanes, lined with traditional Lefkadian houses all painted in different pastel colours. This is a small town and it takes no more than 15 minutes to walk across it. A delightful boulevard, which is pedestrianised in the evenings, leads to the town square where there are many restaurants, cafes, bars and ice cream parlours. The town has a large marina full of sailing boats and yachts. The town boasts a phonograph museum, a municipal art gallery and a recently expanded archaeological museum. The town also hosts two cultural festivals which run in parallel - the International Folklore Festival and Speech & Arts Events. Both these festivals run from June to September but peak in August. Performers come from all over the world. The beaches on the west coast are only a few kilometres away.

KAVALOS

A village full of character with a population of 292 souls, Kavalos is located in the hills above Lefkas Town and is surrounded by vineyards and olive groves. Here you are close to nature and the rustic village cafe is a welcoming resting place. However, you are not completely isolated because shopping and tavernas are 1km away and the nearest beaches 8km.

SIVOTA

The tiny, pretty bay of Sivota on the tip of the south east coast is a natural safe haven for sailors and the village itself, with its tiny harbour, is ideal for evening strolls and people watching. All the local flotilla companies tend to moor here for the night so there is always a lot of activity on the seafront. There are several harbour front fish tavernas and cafe bars. Small boats can be hired from here. There are two supermarkets but if a greater variety is required then the larger resort of Vasiliki is only 5km to the west. Beaches can be found at Vasiliki and Poros to the north, also a 8km drive.

TSOUKOULADES

This simple farming village on the main coast road on the west of the island lies within a beautiful landscape of cypress and olive trees. There are a selection of tavernas, a pharmacy, a couple of bakeries, two mini-markets and coffee shops. A 15 minute drive south is the seaside village of Agios Nikolaos and Milos and Kathisma beaches. It is only 6km to Lefkas Town.

PERIYALI

Set between Nidri and Nikiana and a 5 minute drive from both (2 km and 20 minutes walk), Periyali is a small coastal village with a population of 284 and popular with holidaymakers. The village has a small beach, fishing harbour and several tavernas. Many excursions starting in Nidri are available from Periyali as the village is on the road to the interior of Lefkas. Behind Periyali rise the wooded mountains of Lefkas culminating in the peak of Mount Stavrota at 1182 metres.

LAZARATA

The village of Lazarata village is located 4 km from the traditional village of Karia and 5 km away from the picturesque village of Agios Nikitas. In close proximity are some of the most beautiful beaches of the island (Pefkoulia, Mili and Kathisma). The village has several tavernas a supermarket and a bakery.
