

Kythira

Kythira lies just off the south eastern part of the mainland Peloponnese and is almost a fantasy Greek island. It is hard to think of another that offers so much and yet has such low key foreign tourism. It reminds us of Greece before it got so popular, when accommodation and flights were still limited and the resorts only busy in August.

For this you have to thank the hard-to-reach location off the main ferry routes and the fact that the airport is too small to take large aircraft. But, thanks to improved flight schedules from Athens - from one to two small planes a day - it is now possible to reach Kythira without having to overnight.

Kythira is the 17th Greek island in terms of size (280 sq km), about the same as Kos but with a fraction of the population (c 3500) and numbers of summer visitors. It offers a varied topography hiding many villages and over 30 beaches, and enough history and interest to satisfy the most avid explorer.

Traditionally listed as belonging to the Ionian group of islands, geographically Kythira is closer to the Aegean. This is reflected in the Cycladic style of architecture - flat-roofed whitewashed houses, bluedomed churches and a traditional fortified Hora (capital town) high above the sea for protection against pirate attack.

The island's strategic location at a crossroads between Crete and the mainland has meant a trading past and plenty of conquerors. Its history dates back to pre-Classical times and more recently includes Roman, Byzantine, Venetian, Ottoman and British rulers.

The most well known resort area is Kapsali in the south. You will understand why if you go. The village is built back behind a pair of horseshoe-shaped bays - the main one of which has an excellent sandy beach - overlooked by the picture postcard whitewashed village of Hora and its Venetian castle high on the hillside above.

Kapsali's beach is backed by an array of taverna restaurants, cafes and small shops and is of course busy in high season. Motor boats can be hired, there is a dive school and some seasonal excursions run by boat, including to the rocky islet of Hytra which has a fantastic sea cave where you can swim in translucent water. The area is also good for walking.

Agia Pelagia in the north east spreads around a couple of sand-shingle bays and has a very laid back Greek holiday feel. It is known for the quality of its tavernas - there are five, plus the usual cafes and shops - and the main beach is organised in parts. A high season boat trip runs (subject to weather, it can be windy here) to the islet of Elafonissi close to the Peloponnese, which boasts Caribbean-like white sand beaches.

Tiny Avlemonas, halfway down the east coast, is charming and picturesque. It is known for its natural swimming pool - a fjord-like rocky inlet which has the clearest of water. The village has made this a centrepiece, with landscaped gardens, paths and seating leading down to it. Ladders lead into the sea, which is very sheltered and therefore a popular swimming spot when the wind blows.

The village has four tavernas, a pair of cafes and a mini-market. A 10-12 minute walk south (1 km) is the well-liked long sandy beach of Paleopolis. Avlemonas is really a very sweet little spot, ideal for total relaxation in a small village atmosphere.

Kythira's interior hides a gently rural landscape and over 50 traditional villages. There are monasteries, hundreds of small churches, ruined castles and villages, springs, waterfalls and caves with stalagmites to discover, not to mention some fabulous beaches such as striking Kaladi or the white sands of Diakofti. There is a good value island coach excursion but, to make the most of Kythira, car hire is recommended as the bus service is limited.

KYTHIRA INFORMATION

Getting to Kythira

Flights to Athens from Bristol, Edinburgh, Gatwick, Heathrow, Luton, Manchester, Stansted. Then onward domestic flight to Kythira (50 mins) and transfer to accommodation (20-40 mins.). On return the reverse applies. Most flights should connect same day through Athens - however if not then an overnight hotel will be booked in Athens with transfers.

Multi-Centre Options

Many options tailor-made via Athens. Alternatively ferries connect Kythira with the SE Peloponnese (Neapolis port) in 75 mins. but you will need to take a hire car over (extra ferry and mainland insurance payable locally, see car hire panel P268/9) and overnight. Cars can be dropped at Athens and Kalamata airports for a one way hire supplement. For a short side trip from Kythira we recommend stunning Monemvasia only an hour's drive from Neapolis, where we have a range of hotels you can pre-book, from small pensions within the castle walls to the wonderful 5 star Kinsteria (see P147).

Car & Motorboat Hire

Can be pre-booked and delivery is free - see pages 268/9 for details.

Representative

We have representation on Kythira c/o our local agent and you will be visited at your accommodation shortly after arrival and before departure.

Kapsali

Porto Delfino Hotel Kapsali

The Porto Delfino is on the hillside behind Kapsali and enjoys super views over the second bay to the open sea and the rocky egg-shaped islet of Hytra (not Hydra!). It is a 10-15 minute walk down the hill to the seafront and beach.

The hotel's 24 rooms are housed in three separate 2-storey buildings. All possess twin or double bed, AC, TV, fridge, bath and/or shower and hairdryer - there is a safe in reception for valuables. Balcony doors and windows have insect screens. Superior rooms have a small second room with sofa-bed. All rooms are south facing and enjoy divine views from their good-sized balcony terraces. Furnishings are simple and traditional (dark wood).

The main building has a lounge and a large sea facing terrace where breakfast is taken or a drink/snack from the bar. In the evenings the hotel will provide dinner with a little notice.

The infinity pool below is of filtered seawater, has steps in and measures c 100 sq m (depth 0.80m-1.40m) - it has an adjacent pool bar in high season.

The hotel is happy to provide advice on the good walking opportunities from here - from 30 mins. up to the monastery on the cliff behind to 4-5 hours - and can provide picnic lunches and a walking guide. Yoga and massage treatments are also on offer.

We have read very good reports of the excellent, friendly service here.

El Sol Studios Kapsali

Below Chora and the castle, the El Sol studios are on the hillside a short walk from Kapsali. There are 10 bungalow rooms here, set in lush gardens.

The studios are twin or double bedded and all possess AC, WiFi, a basic 2-ring kitchenette area with fridge, a shower room, hairdryer and room safe. Furnishings and decor are traditional in style, with iron beds, wooden ceilings and floors.

The studios are all upper ground floor reached by a few steps up from the garden, and boast terrific views over Kapsali Bay from their front terraces. Privacy is good and there are common seating areas also in the gardens.

It is 300m to the start of Kapsali beach via a small road - a five minute walk but please note that 200m is quite steep - and a further couple of minutes to the restaurants.

Kythea Resort Agia Pelagia

This is one of the best hotels on the island. Standing on a bluff above Agia Pelagia, Kythea Resort offers good levels of comfort, facilities and fine views.

The hotel's 37 rooms are housed on 5 floors, served by a lift. All are spacious, with double or twin beds (some family rooms available), bath and/or shower and a large front balcony terrace from which to enjoy the panoramic views over the village, sea and coastline south. Room amenities include AC, WiFi, room safe, TV, hairdryer and the hotel offers a laundry service.

Hotel facilities include lounge, lobby bar, and a poolside a la carte restaurant for lunch and dinner.

The swimming pool measures 15m x 6m (depth 1m-4m) and has steps in. The adjacent pool bar serves drinks and snacks.

You can walk to Agia Pelagia's beaches and good selection of taverna restaurants within 10 minutes.

Agia Pelagia

Filoxenia Hotel Agia Pelagia

Quietly located towards the southern end of Agia Pelagia, the Filoxenia is within easy reach (3-4 minutes' flat walk) of the centre of the village and the main beach.

The hotel has 27 rooms housed in two buildings with a pretty courtyard garden between them.

Our favoured rooms are the Junior Suites, spacious at 30-40 sq m. Although open plan they have a glass 'wall' separating the bedroom area with a living room space. They have king size or twin beds, a sofa bed in the living area (an extra folding bed can also be placed here for a child), a good-sized shower room, and balcony with garden, mountain, sea or side sea views. Decor and furnishing is in the attractive minimalist modern Greek style.

Other room types include studios (some disabled-adapted), sea view suites, family suites and maisonettes.

Amenities in all rooms include AC, TV, fridge, room safe, hairdryer and insect-screened patio doors and windows. Tea-making facilities can be provided on request. Please note rooms are on three floors and there is no lift.

The hotel has a large freshwater pool (depth 1.30m-2.85m) with adjacent pool bar serving drinks and snacks.

Family run and friendly, the Filoxenia makes a quiet comfortable base in a very convenient location.

Castri Village Agia Pelagia

This wonderful accommodation combines all the benefits of a good small boutique hotel with the freedom of a spacious fully equipped apartment. The service, attention to detail and quality you will find here is rare.

There are just four maisonette-style apartments here (not counting the owners!). Each comprises an air conditioned ground floor living room with full kitchen corner, dining area, comfy sofas (can be extra beds), TV and guest wc. The high-ceilinged double bedroom (also with AC and TV) with en suite shower room is upstairs. Bathroom amenities are provided, as is a room safe and hairdryer. Each floor has a patio terrace or balcony with sea view. Furnishings and decor are lovely.

A rich and delicious a la carte breakfast is individually prepared for guests each day and served to the room. Dinners also, if requested in advance.

The pool below is 8m x 4m with decking and sun beds - pool towels provided.

It is only 200m down the hill to the centre of the village and beach - however, be warned it is a stiff walk back up!

We cannot stress enough the high level of personal service Christina and Konstantinos provide to their guests.

Air Conditioning: available at a local charge of €5 per day.

Agia Pelagia

Anemes Hotel Apartments Avlemonas

Quietly situated at the southern end of this very pretty little village, the Anemes is an easy 5 minute walk from the centre and less than 10 minutes from long Paleopolis beach in the other direction.

The hotel has just 12 rooms in two buildings with gardens to the front. All rooms are double bedded with AC, WiFi, TV, basic 2-ring kitchen facilities with fridge, shower room, hairdryer and room safe. Each has a generous front terrace with sea views over the gardens. Standard studios are ground or first (top) floor are 25 sq m and have a traditional air with stone floors and dark wood furniture; the Superiors on the first floor are even larger (35 sq m) and have a modern minimalist decor.

Furnishings are of good quality and decor light and fresh.

A well reviewed buffet breakfast containing home made treats and local delicacies is laid out every day, a reflection of the care and attention the personable owners, Mema and Pashalis, pay to their hotel and guests.

Avlemonas

Maryianni Apartments Avlemonas

These beautiful all-suite apartments occupy a central location just a minute's walk from the village centre and the natural 'swimming pool' here, reached by steps and a path. Paleopolis beach is 1 km - a 12 minute walk.

There are just 7 very spacious apartments here (most are 47 sq m), very well furnished and equipped. Each has an air conditioned bedroom with queen-sized bed, a separate living room with full kitchen and a sofa bed, a very nice shower room and a large furnished terrace. Ground floor rooms overlook the garden, most of those on the first (top) floor have some sea views. All units have WiFi, a hairdryer and a room safe. Furnishings and decor are traditional throughout.

These are high quality, roomy apartments in a prime location. The helpful owner, Captain Manos (ex-airline pilot, not fisherman!), cannot do enough for his guests.

Avlemonas Bay Studios Avlemonas

This is a charming small accommodation of 7 beautifully furnished studios 100m from the centre and 900m from the large beach of Paleopolis.

Our studios are on the top floor. They are double bedded and possess a small kitchen area (2-rings, fridge), shower room and good-sized balcony with good sea views. Amenities include AC, WiFi, insect-screened balcony doors and windows, TV, hairdryer and room safe.

The studios are spacious with good quality furnishings and fresh, light and tasteful decor. Cleaning is daily.

Very sweet accommodation, and very well priced given the high modern standards, views and central location.
