

Eastern Cyclades

Santorini

Santorini is an island that should need no introduction. Also known as Thira, it is startlingly unlike any other.

Sheer volcanic cliffs, embroidered on their heights by whitewashed villages, plunge 1,000 feet to the sea. Here occurred the tremendous eruption some 3,000 years ago that is thought to have destroyed the Minoan civilisation in Crete as well as Santorini's own advanced culture (as evidenced by the excavations at Akrotiri). Theories of Atlantis abound, but all that remains is the vast sea-filled caldera, the visible lips being the three main islands of Thira, Therasia and Aspronisi.

Understandably this dramatic island is always popular and tourism, together with wine production, is fairly dominant. Nevertheless, Santorini is an island that should be visited at least once – it is unique and the views are spectacularly unforgettable.

Naxos

c 1 hr by ferry from Mykonos or c 2 hrs from Santorini

c 5 hrs by ferry from Athens or 40 min. flight

Naxos is the largest of the Cyclades. It is also, with Santorini, Mykonos and Paros, now one of the most popular, due largely to much-improved ferry links. But away from the main town and handful of burgeoning resorts Naxos has largely preserved its slower, more Greek pace of life. It offers abundant sandy beaches and a fertile interior still dedicated to farming.

Naxos Town is particularly attractive, its extensive waterfront bedecked with tavernas and small shops. Behind, a maze of narrow streets and tiny passages leads to the Venetian Kastro, worth visiting for the island's archaeological museum.

Naxos boasts some 92 kms of beach and nearly all are excellent. Aghios Georgios, closest to the town, is sandy and very long. Some 8 kilometres away – and easily reached by the very good local bus network – Prokopios and Ayia Anna are of fine golden sand shelving gently into a clear blue sea. Small but growing resorts, busy in the summer months, have sprung up behind these beaches. Carry on south and the beaches simply get better and better (and emptier) culminating in the great golden sweep of Pyrgaki.

You can explore Naxos very effectively by bus or organised excursion or hire car. Visit the old capital of Chalki, delightful Philoti, and Apollonas in the north, where a large statue of Apollo (a 'Kouros') lies to this day. Inland is superb walking country with mountains, springs, valleys and plains and guided walks can be booked locally.

Paros & Antiparos

c 4 hrs by ferry from Athens or 40 min. flight

Paros, a short hop to the west of Naxos, is smaller and less dramatic, but does get busy in season. The beaches are excellent, and it is probably the best island of all from which to do a little island hopping – every ferry in the Aegean seems to dock at one time or another!

A gentle landscape hides windmills and sparkling white villages. The pretty resort village of Naoussa in the north still retains some of its fishing village atmosphere around the harbour area, although busy in summer. There is a good selection of beaches to choose from, some best reached by boat.

On Paros' east coast, to the south of the pretty village of Piso Livadi, you will find miles of uncrowded sand.

The satellite island of Antiparos, just a 10 minute ferry hop from the west coast of Paros, can feel like a refuge. Antiparos has most attractive little port with a sophisticated, counter-cultural vibe. Life revolves around its elegant waterfront and main street, beneath a canopy of flaming bougainvillea.

The town has beaches of its own, but they get better as you go south, the pick being Soros which has a couple of tavernas. The island is distinguished by a spectacular set of hilltop caves more than 100 metres deep, with a stunning array of huge stalagmites and stalactites.

Mykonos

Together with Santorini, rocky Mykonos is the star of Cyclades tourism and has been the haunt of celebs since the 1960s (they were called 'the jet set' in those days!). This party island has long been a haunt of the glamorous and famous, but that's not to say that mere mortals can't enjoy a stay here too!

Only 75 sq kms in size, it packs enough golden sand, upmarket hotels, restaurants, cafés, bars and clubs to satisfy the most hedonistic visitor – with prices to match. But Mykonos certainly has plenty of charm, not least within the pristine labyrinthine lanes of the town – one of the prettiest of all island capitals – and the island's ubiquitous windmills and countless tiny chapels.

Mykonos is also the best place from which to visit the sacred island of Delos, a large and important site just offshore, and boats leave from the harbour every morning.

Obviously Mykonos is not an island from which to escape the crowds, nor one for a traditional Greek atmosphere, but what Mykonos does it does exceedingly well.

EASTERN CYCLADES INFORMATION

Getting to the Islands

SANTORINI, MYKONOS

Both islands have flights from Gatwick, Heathrow and Manchester several times per week, allowing odd durations and 'open-jaw' itineraries. Also Luton to Mykonos. Alternatively fly via Athens with onward domestic flight or ferry. Transfers on arrival and departure to/from your accommodation provided (max. 30 mins).

PAROS, ANTIPAROS, NAXOS, IOS

Fly to Mykonos or Santorini, transfer to the port, ferry to the island (included), onward transfer to your accommodation (max. 30 mins). Antiparos requires a secondary short ferry trip of c. 15 mins – the small cost of this is payable locally. On the return the reverse applies. Alternatively fly via Athens with onward domestic flight or ferry. The best routing can vary according to flight timings and seasonal ferry schedules. If an overnight hotel is necessary we will include it and all transfers in the quoted holiday price.

Multi-Centre and Island Hopping

All these islands can combine – the minimum stay on each is 3 nights.

Gorgona Hotel Mykonos Town

The Gorgona is a family-run hotel located on the hillside above the sea a 15 minute walk (1 km) up from the port and centre of town, behind the upmarket Cavo Tagoo Hotel.

The hotel has 19 rooms on ground or first floor. Mostly double bedded, the rooms have simple furnishings and decor. All possess AC, Wifi, room safe, TV, mini-fridge, hairdryer and a small shower room (renovated). The big selling point is that each room has a good sized open terrace facing west, offering 180 degree sea views and fabulous sunsets.

To the side is an attractive and spacious swimming pool area - the pool is freshwater, measures some 80 sq m and is served by a pool snack bar.

We stress that the Gorgona is a modest hotel and we have a range of higher category hotels in town to choose from for those seeking higher levels of room space and comfort. We have selected the hotel primarily for its views, pool and proximity to town. However as a 'budget' hotel option (for Mykonos!) we think it also provides good value considering its location.

Paraga Beach

Zephyros Hotel Paraga, Mykonos

Paraga is one of a string of famous sandy beaches spread along Mykonos' south coast and served by an excellent 'hop-on hop-off' water taxi service. As with nearly all beaches on the island, it is organised with two tavernas and a beach bar/club on the headland. There is another small beach to the other side (with a good taverna) and others can also be reached on foot.

Just a minute's walk from the beach the Zephyros is a most comfortable hotel of 40 elegant rooms done in a pretty Mykonian style. All possess AC, Wifi, mini-fridge, TV, safety deposit box, and most have a balcony with garden, pool or sea views (some ground floor rooms overlooking the garden have no balcony and are sold at a reduction).

The attractive pool area is to the front and side and has a pool bar and restaurant.

The town is 6 kms away and has a good bus service from just outside the hotel. Other beaches can be easily reached by the frequent water taxi service from the beach.

Santo Maris Oia Luxury Suites & Spa Oia, Santorini

Located at the edge of Oia, Santorini's prettiest clifftop village at the northern tip of the island, the all-suite and villa Santo Maris opened its doors in 2016 and provides everything those looking for a serene and rejuvenating retreat should require.

The hotel comprises 57 stylish suites and villas spread over three 'neighbourhoods', and designed in traditional Santorini style with whitewashed dome-roofed bungalows contrasting with the dark volcanic stone.

All rooms have their own sun loungers and heated Jacuzzi tub on their terraces, and some also have a private pool. All higher category units look to the sea, many with sunset views. For further room details please see our website.

The resort has five outdoor pools, a high quality restaurant with an emphasis on the best modern Greek cuisine, a pool bar (serves light meals and snacks during the day) and a main bar, a gym and the Royal Spa, which was honoured with the title of Greece's Best Resort Spa at the World Spa Awards 2019 for the third consecutive year. Private dining on your room terrace can be arranged, as can butler service at an extra charge.

It is just a 5 minute walk to the centre of Oia, which has a fair number of restaurants, cafes and chic bars, some on the cliff boasting stunning views over the caldera.

Esperas Hotel Oia, Santorini

Oia is the prettiest and most upmarket of Santorini's cliff-top villages, and famed for its sunset. In a peaceful location a ten minute walk from the centre of the village, and built down the cliffside (so plenty of steps), the Esperas enjoys the most fantastic caldera views (and sunset, from all but Standard rooms and Esperas Suite).

The hotel's 17 rooms are designed in the traditional island 'cave' style, being built into the cliff. All have Queen-sized beds, tea-making facilities, mini-bar, Sat TV, DVD, CD/MP3 player, room-safe, Wifi, shower room and sea/caldera view terrace. Studios are for couples only; Houses offer more space (some split-level), Junior Suites have a living room area open-plan with the bedroom; and the Suites have one or two bedrooms, a separate living room and a private outdoor Jacuzzi on the terrace.

Please enquire for more detailed room descriptions. The swimming pool is (for cliff accommodation) a reasonable size - carved into the rock it has a surrounding terrace and snack bar. The hotel has a restaurant, offers private dining and breakfast can be taken on your room terrace.

The Esperas occupies a truly privileged location, one of the best on Santorini, and has the views, style, comfort and facilities to match. Please note that children under 12 years are discouraged, and the many steps make a stay here unsuitable for anyone with mobility problems.

Kalimera Hotel Akrotiri, Santorini

This small and very friendly hotel is on the edge of the traditional village of Akrotiri, 10kms to the south of the capital Fira. The pretty village is away from the main tourist areas, although it does have some half-dozen tavernas and is known for its Minoan archaeological site dating from the eruption in 1625 BC.

The hotel has only 23 rooms (plus a pair of Suites) on 3 floors or in a bungalow garden unit behind the pool. All are nicely furnished in a tasteful modern style and possess air-conditioning, fridge, TV, hairdryer, shower room and balcony or terrace. Most have some form of sea view, either over the road to the caldera or across vines to the south coast.

Some open-plan maisonettes for families are available. These have a sleeping gallery above a living area and are for up to four persons. The facilities are the same as the rooms.

The hotel has a well-liked garden bar and restaurant serving honest home cooking (and the occasional BBQ) and an attractive freshwater pool measuring some 80 sq m. A roof-garden bar operates in the summer evenings.

The bus stop for Fira Town is nearby (service at least hourly) and a small beach at the foot of the caldera below can be reached in around 10 minutes via a steep track.

The Kalimera offers a quiet, friendly alternative to the more commercial areas, yet is within a short (c 20 min) bus ride of the capital and walking distance of beaches. Recommended, and good value for Santorini.

Melina Hotel Fira, Santorini

The Melina is a small family-run hotel in a central but quiet location that allows convenient access to the main bus station (3 mins.), the centre of Fira (5 mins.) and the caldera edge (8-10 mins.).

The 20 rooms here are a mix of twins, doubles and triples, all with simple pretty decor and furnishings. All possess air conditioning, shower room, hairdryer, room safe, mini-fridge and balcony.

There is a ground floor breakfast room and lounge (with seasonal bar), and an outdoor freshwater pool with furnished terrace surrounds.

We consider the Melina to be a simple, convenient and well priced town hotel - ideal as a base from which to make the most of both Fira Town and Santorini, as the excellent bus service starts from the central bus station nearby and runs to all points including the famous volcanic beaches.

Birikos Apartments Aghios Prokopios, Naxos

On the edge of the small seaside resort of Aghios Prokopios, an approximate 3-4 minute walk to the centre and the beautiful beach here, these family-run apartments offer a comfortable stay in a convenient location and with possibly the friendliest owners on the island. We believe they also represent excellent value for money.

The accommodation is split between two buildings of two floors, surrounded by lush attractive gardens. Standard units are typically simply furnished and possess air conditioning, TV, an open-plan basic kitchenette for light meals (electric rings, fridge), a tiled shower room and front balcony. Distant sea views may be possible on request.

The studios comprise one open-plan room and are mostly twin bedded. The 1-bedroom apartments are for up to 4 persons with a double bedroom plus a living room containing one or two sofa-beds. decor. The 2-bedroom apartments have a second bedroom and a small separate kitchen - an extra folding bed can be placed in one of the bedrooms for a smaller child.

Free Naxos Walking and Info App

We have combined with Alternet Greece, who specialise in the promotion of alternative tourism to selected Greek islands, to offer all clients staying on Naxos for three nights or more free access to their Naxos App which normally costs €40.

The app includes:

- a hiking/walking map of the island with the most popular walking trails marked. For each trail a description, an elevation profile and length will be provided, plus a list with nearby points of interest (typically those of environmental and/or historical/cultural interest)
- places to visit (museums etc.)
- discounts with local businesses, shops, restaurants. These businesses have been selected for their quality and commitment to good environmental practice e.g. shops selling or restaurants using local island produce

The app is (at the time of printing) under development but instructions of how to download the app from the Apple App store or Google Play onto a smart phone and gain access using a code will be advised with your tickets. There is also a mobile-friendly website planned.
