

Cyprus

At the eastern edge of the Mediterranean Sea, from sumptuous coastline to mountainous interior, Cyprus is an island steeped in contrasts: lively resort to monastic serenity, cacophonous street life to ageless village silence, Greek temple to Byzantine hermitage,

Neolithic dwelling to luxury hotel. Cyprus is an island for all seasons: with its short, mild winter and mountain snow, the glorious swathes of spring-time flora, the deep, burnishing heat of summer, and the mellow warmth of the island's long autumn.

Polis and Akamas

Deserted beaches, a wild coastline, traditional villages, stupendous views and dramatic sunsets are here in abundance for those who want a more profound experience of the island. Akamas National Park is an unspoiled treasure trove of rare plants and migratory birds.
Pages 246-253

Paphos Region

Paphos is composed of contrasting elements. For some, a place of beaches, restaurants, cafés, nightclubs, spa hotels and harbour strolls. For others, a place of Roman mosaics, fallen monuments, village hideaways, secret catacombs and Byzantine hermitages.
Pages 253-257

Limassol Region

Lying between the ancient kingdoms of Curium and Amathus, Limassol is an extensive and cosmopolitan resort that is also a "real" working town. Explore an abundance of beaches, the foothills of the Troodos, a Crusader castle, and the splendour of Mycenaean Kourion.
Pages 258-259

Larnaca Region

Within easy reach are so many of the elements that characterise Cyprus: splendid beaches, a diverse and historic town, exceptional archaeological sites and a smattering of picturesque stone villages that seem to have grown organically from the land.

Troodos Mountains

A region of tranquil valleys and vaulting peaks, snow-tipped in winter, flower-decked in spring and fruit-filled in autumn. In the height of summer, its coolness beckons: hiking trails, cherry blossom, the crested hoopoe, frescoes, waterfalls and vine-covered tavernas.

Pages 261-264

Nicosia Region

Enclosed within its formidable Venetian bulwarks, the old medieval town seems to have a separate existence from the encircling urban sprawl. Inside its walls, find an historic fusion of Gothic and Ottoman buildings, hidden courtyards, filigree balconies and twisting streets.

Pages 264

The island's coastline is shared between long popular beaches, tumbling headlands and hidden coves.

As ever, the majority of tourists gather where it's most convenient, happy to bask in the inexhaustible sun and the boundless Cypriot hospitality, so it takes a mere step away to encounter the real Cyprus – of small villages, age-old customs, and an almost undisturbed wealth of historic remains. At every point the sea beckons, dazzling, warm and enchanting.

Inland, it can feel as if you have passed into another century, with sleepy villages nestling in the folds of the Troodos Mountain, amidst goats, olive groves, lemon trees and wild flowers, while groups of seated men contemplate life from beneath the fabled "tree of idleness". Painted churches and dramatically positioned monasteries dot the landscape.

The island invites exploration. A land so varied yet in such a compact space, with such differences in geography and cultural influences, is a perfect setting for the more independently-minded traveller. Ever helpful, the Cypriots even drive on the left-hand side of the road!

Desired by Phoenicians and Greeks, Romans and Venetians, Ottomans and the British, Cyprus is but a four and a half hour flight from the UK. Once described as a huge archaeological site, it still retains a timeless physical beauty. The beach will beckon, the sun will shine, the sea will be a depthless blue, but it will be the landscape and the people who steal your heart.

Lasa Heights Hotel, Lasa, Paphos Area

The tiny village of Lasa is a world away from the bustle of Paphos which is only a 45 minute drive away. Life revolves around the main square

Marios Charalambides has converted his grandfather's village coffee shop into a homely, charming, personally run (with his mother) 9 bedroom hotel. When first built in the early 19th century, life revolved around the shop; whether to play Tavli (backgammon), catch up with the gossip or just watch the world go by. Old ladies from the village still make the traditional Halloumi Cyprus cheese and all the village families grow their own grapes for the table.

The renovation is perfect with the addition of a small new wing of six bedrooms to create a shaded courtyard with an ancient olive tree in the centre.

The views towards the Akamas and the Bay of Chrysochou from the property are spectacular.

Accommodation

9 air-conditioned simply furnished rooms divided between the old and new building. All are individually decorated with bathroom (shower, except for one room which has a bath), hairdryer, fridge, local channel tv and free WiFi. Rooms are with communal balcony or terrace. The six rooms in the new wing have panoramic sea and mountain views, especially those on the first floor.

Facilities

Breakfast room/snack bar. Cypriot dishes are available on request

Amenities

Ideal for exploring the countryside either on foot or by car.

We have worked with the Alasia Hotel since we started operating to Cyprus in 1970. This is one of the classic hotels of Cyprus and is personally run by Nicos Thrassivoulou and his wife and family.

The hotel was closed for two years for renovation and has been transformed from a traditional establishment to a modern, bright, comfortable hotel, beautifully designed and furnished in light colours and fabrics.

The Alasia is a terrific, comfortable base from which to explore the island.

Itinerary 10 days / 9 nights

An Open-Air Museum

Cyprus has a rich history and due to its strategic position in the Mediterranean has been invaded by the Greeks, Persians, Romans, Phoenicians, Normans, Venetians, Turks and British to name but a few. Below we suggest a fly-drive itinerary which covers some of what the island offers. Feel free to alter to suit your preferences. We are here to guide and advise. You will also find further suggested itineraries on our website.

Day One

Arrive Larnaca or Paphos Airports, collect your car and drive to The Library Hotel in Kalavassos - Overnight at The Lokal Hotel on bed and breakfast.

Day Two

In the morning visit the Neolithic World Heritage site of Khirokitia and the excavations at Tenta. We suggest lunch in a fish taverna at Zygi and on to explore Larnaca, the island's third largest city and site of Hala Sultan Tekke, the burial place of Umm Haram, Mohamed's wet-nurse and the third holiest shrine for Muslims - overnight Library Hotel on bed and breakfast.

Day Three

Drive west to visit the ruins of the kingdom of Ancient Amathus, dating from 1,000 BC and then on to Limassol, the island's second largest city. Spend the day exploring the city and especially the old town - overnight Library Hotel on bed and breakfast.

Day Four

A day spent exploring the traditional villages of Lefkara, Drys, Vavla, Skarinou and Vasa and then on to the Troodos mountains. Overnight at the New Helvetia Hotel, Platres.

Day Five & Six

Head for Nicosia, the island's capital to visit the archeological museum, the old town and Green Line dividing the south from the Turkish occupied north - overnights Classic Hotel on bed and breakfast.

Day Seven

Drive to Paphos with a stop at the Knight Hospitalers' Kolossi Castle and on to the spectacularly located Hellenistic and Roman city of Curium (Kurion) followed by a visit to the World Heritage site of Palea Paphos and Aphrodite's Temple, 12 or so Kilometres from Nea Paphos and the modern city and resort. In antiquity, Paphos was the birthplace of Aphrodite the goddess of love - overnight Axiothea Hotel, Paphos on bed and breakfast.

Days Eight

Explore modern, Pano and Kato Paphos within which area lies ancient Nea Paphos, the tombs of the Kings and the remarkable and world famous mosaics of the Houses of Dionysos, Theseus and Aion. Paphos is like an open-air museum and a world Heritage site - overnight Axiothea the Great Hotel on bed and breakfast.

Days Nine

The area between Paphos and Polis on the north coast boasts several very interesting monasteries in very picturesque locations which are well worth visiting like Aghios Neophytos and Panayia Chryssorogiatissa. There are also some very interesting villages in the mountains above Paphos. Alternatively, drive along the coast to the Akamas National Park and stop off for a swim at one of the many beaches along the coast - overnight Axiothea Hotel on bed and breakfast.

Day Ten

After breakfast, depending on the time of your return flight, time for some shopping or relaxing by the pool before driving to the airport.

Guide prices from £988 per person

Based on LGW - LCA flights in May, and entry level room types at the accommodation. Group A1 car included.

See our website www.sunvil.co.uk/cyprus for further suggested itineraries and short breaks linked to Paphos, having been named European City of Culture in 2017.

Itinerary 8 days / 7 nights

Walkers & Nature Lovers

Cyprus is not only a sun and beach destination. The mountains are heavily forested with pine and cedar and their villages untouched by tourism. The Akamas National Park is a virtually unblemished Mediterranean landscape, much the same now as it was two thousand years ago. The itinerary below covers what we feel you should see and experience. You don't have to walk everywhere, after all you do have a car. You can mix driving through the landscapes with walking to suit your preferences. The suggested walks are not difficult. All are grade one or two and suitable for all adults of fair to good fitness levels. A guide to the trails which are all waymarked will be supplied with your booking confirmation.

Day One

Arrive at either Larnaca or Paphos Airports, collect your car and drive to the Latchi area - overnight at the beachfront Aphrodite Beach Hotel on bed and breakfast. We would always recommend lunch or evening meals are taken here as the cooking is homely and traditional.

Day Two

Spend the morning at the beach below the hotel and after lunch drive to Neo Chorio (about 15 minutes) to follow the circular 5km (2 hour) Smiglies Trail through the Akamas Forest for some spectacular views - overnight Aphrodite Beach Hotel on bed and breakfast.

Day Three

Make an early start and drive to the Baths of Aphrodite (10 minutes from the hotel) and either take the circular 7.5km (3 to 4 hour) Adonis Trail or the similar length Aphrodite Trail. Both trails explore different aspects of the Akamas National Park. We suggest lunch at a fish taverna in nearby Latchi Harbour and the afternoon relaxing on the beach - overnight Aphrodite Beach Hotel on bed and breakfast.

Day Four

There are several interesting villages to explore in this northwest region like Droushia, Neo Chorio, Kathikas and Arodes to name but a few. All are between 15 and 45 minutes' drive from the hotel and all have good local tavernas for lunch. There is also a very interesting coastal drive through the town of Polis to Pyrgos which will take about two hours - overnight Aphrodite Beach Hotel on bed and breakfast.

Day Five

Drive from Latchi through the Paphos and Troodos ranges on forestry roads to the mountain village of Kalopanagiotis - a three to four hour picturesque route. Make an early start because, on the way you should stop to visit forestry station at Stavros Tis Psokas (1,000 metres above sea level) and the most famous of the Cypriot monasteries, Kykkos - overnight at Casale Panayiotis in Kalopanagiotis on bed and breakfast.

Day Six

Two walks today, so make an early start.

One starts from the village, the Kalopanagiotis to Oikos Village linear trail 4km (1.5 hours). This includes visiting the church of Aghios Ioannis Lambadistis a listed UNESCO World Heritage site. Then drive to Troodos Square (45 minutes) to walk the Atalanti circular trail (14km 4 hours) through some of the most ancient forests of Black Pine and Troodos Juniper (one Juniper is 800 years old) with some spectacular views. After such an energetic day we would recommend dinner back at your hotel - overnight Casale Panagiotis on bed and breakfast.

Days Seven

There are some delightful twisting drives through interesting villages in the Troodos mountains and there are four more UNESCO World Heritage site, ancient churches which should not be missed: Archangelos, Aghios Nikolaos Tis Stegis, Panagia Tis Podythou and, the best of them all, Panagia Forviotissa in Asinou. Overnight at Linos Inn, Kakopetria.

Days Eight

Drive to either Larnaca or Paphos Airports for your flight home.

Flights

Most charter / no-frills flights from (Gatwick, Stansted, Luton, Edinburgh, Manchester, Newcastle, Bristol, Birmingham, Exeter, Leeds Bradford, East Midlands, Doncaster) to Paphos or Larnaca tend to operate on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays, but other departure days are increasingly becoming available.

British Airways fly daily from Heathrow to Larnaca, they also fly Gatwick Paphos. For the latest information telephone 020 8758 4759.

Flight frequencies are higher between April and October.

There are now so many airlines operating to the island from a wide range of local airports, all changing their prices on a day to day or hour to hour basis, that it is impossible to give fixed supplements or reductions in advance.

Our flight prices are set at the time of booking as we aim to offer maximum flexibility to our clients. As a result, package prices are indications only.

In order to book the best possible fare with some airlines it will sometimes be necessary to ticket and pay well in advance. In such cases, clients will be asked to pay the flight portion at the time of booking in addition to the £150 deposit.

Premium/club class seating is available on some airlines. Please enquire for applicable supplement.

All known fuel surcharges and airport taxes as at 15 October 2017 are included in our prices.

Important Notes

- All timings are local and are subject to change. Days of operation are also subject to change and will be confirmed at the time of booking.
- Aircraft types may change at the airline's discretion.
- Luggage allowance is generally 20 kilos, included in our prices (nil for infants under 2 years) but this also depends on the airline and will be advised at the time of booking.
- Connecting flights are available from most UK airports if required.
- Minimum check-in time two hours before departure.
- All flights are non-smoking.
- Some low cost flight arrangements may not include in-flight meals or refreshments.

How we work out the 'price indications' for the Cyprus Programme

For our Cyprus holiday programme we have adopted a flexible pricing policy. Prices shown within this brochure are guideline prices inclusive of flight prices from London Gatwick to Paphos (average price taken at October 2017) and the ground arrangements specified. An accurate price will be provided on application and will reflect the latest airline fares, including regional departures, and any offers from our hotels and other partners.

As competition between the low cost carriers intensifies, the fluctuation in seat prices seems to be increasing and varies from a few pounds to £100 and more either up or down. Be prepared!

We do our best to give meaningful price guides but it is not easy in the current market.
