

Meganissi

Meganissi is the largest of Lefkas' half-dozen satellite islands by some distance, and the only inhabited one. Although just half-an-hour by regular ferry from Nidri, which sails past Onassis' Skorpios en route, its sleepy atmosphere and slow pace of life feel like a different planet.

This is an island from which to forget the cares of the world, one where you can completely relax and lose yourself in magnificent views, walking, swimming and other simple pleasures.

Meganissi has two ports, each with a village above. The first small harbour is called Spilia, named after a nearby sea-cave. It comprises simply a pretty bay where fishing boats jostle with visiting yachts for mooring, a popular taverna and, to one side, a shingle beach called Rocca, also with a taverna. It is a 10-15 minute walk up to whitewashed Spartochoi above, a delightfully flower-filled village with a couple of restaurants of its own.

3½ kilometres to the east is the small port of Vathy. Vathy has some half-dozen well liked waterfront restaurants, popular with Lefkadians who pop over on Sundays for a leisurely fish lunch! The attractive village of Katomeri is a kilometre inland. Some pretty pebble beaches can be found within a 10-15 minute walk, and others may be reached by water-taxi.

The ports and villages are all linked by a circular road which runs above the sea and then winds its way inland through an idyllic country landscape. A network of footpaths and goat tracks makes walking through the gentle rolling countryside a popular activity – you could, for example, complete the round of ports and villages (cheats can take the ferry from Spilia to Vathy!). Serious walkers will enjoy the trail south along Meganissi's spine.

In keeping with Meganissi's unspoiled nature, beaches are generally uncommercial, pristine and uncrowded. Most are of white-pebble, backed by pine and cypress. Ai Yiannis, also linked by country road from Spartochoi, is the best known in the west and has a taverna – views to Lefkas are exquisite. On the east coast, 1.7kms from Vathy (mostly walking above the sea but also served by a high season bus) brings you to beautiful Fanari. The heavily indented coastline hides many more secluded coves, bays and beaches, some accessible only on foot or by boat.

Car hire is recommended for non-walkers and bicycles and motor-boats can be hired. Island Hopping trips by excursion boats operate – alternatively small boats will take you around the sea caves and the neighbouring Prince's Islands. For brighter lights it is easy to visit Lefkas for the day, or even just a few hours. But we think most won't want to stir from this beautiful, restful spot.

Elizabeth Apartments Spartochoi

Towards the top of Spartochoi, a 3 minute walk up from the village square (a steady climb but nothing too steep), this pair of rooftop penthouse-style apartments offer exceptional standards for such a small simple island.

Unusually, the two apartments are detached from one another. The 1-bedroom has its entrance into a fitted and well-equipped kitchen-diner (fridge-freezer, electric cooker with hob, microwave oven, dishwasher), a lovely air conditioned double bedroom to the rear with plasma tv, a spacious bathroom (full bath, shower) with hair dryer and washing machine, and a large private sun terrace (furnished) boasting beautiful views over the green hills to the sea and Oxia island.

The huge 2-bedroom apartment is magnificent, and furnished and equipped to a very high level. This has one double and one twin bedroom, each air-conditioned with access to a terrace; a very spacious living room with plasma tv and two full-sized sofa-beds; a large open-plan kitchen (facilities as the 1-br but bigger); bathroom with jacuzzi bath, shower and washing machine; and lovely wide covered private front veranda with views over the village and hills.

What a surprise to find such well-appointed accommodation in the heart of such a simple traditional village.

Nijay Apartments Spartochoi

For those wishing to stay in modern comfort but in traditional village surroundings these new apartments should suit. They are at the top end of sleepy Spartochoi, quietly located a 3 minute walk from the centre. All four apartments here are extremely spacious and provide very high standards.

The 2-bedroom apartments are on the ground or first floor, each comprising one double and one twin bedroom; a large lounge with TV and a sofa bed for one adult or two children; full kitchen; modern cubicle shower room; and balcony or terrace with courtyard, village or (partial) sea views over the rooftops. All rooms have AC.

There is also a deluxe 1-bedroom apartment on the ground floor with a large garden terrace area to the side. It has the same facilities but is equipped and furnished to an even higher spec., with the addition of a washing machine, dishwasher & microwave oven.

Spilia beach is a 15 minute walk via steps from the village square (longer back up). The centre of the village has two tavernas, two pizzerias, a café-bar with spectacular views and a couple of mini-markets. There is a bus service linking all the villages, a taxi, and of course the ferry can take you to Lefkas in just 30 minutes.

Rose Garden Apartments Vathy

Rose Garden is newly built above and to the side of Vathy's pretty harbour. The slightly elevated position enables good views away from any harbour bustle, but the waterfront can be easily reached in just a couple of minutes by footpath (steep in parts) and a few steps.

All five studios possess a double bed; a fitted kitchenette area with 2 rings, mini-oven and full fridge; modern shower room; air-conditioning; safety deposit box; tv; and spacious covered front balcony with views over the village, hills and (to one side) the harbour. A hairdryer and iron can be supplied on request locally, as well as free use of a washing machine. Our studios are mainly top floor, but one on the upper ground floor is a little larger and has both a double and a single bed.

There is also a 1-bedroom apartment, also on the upper ground floor, which is similar with the addition of a living room (also air-conditioned) containing a double sofa-bed for one adult or two children and an open-plan kitchen area with full cooker – both rooms open onto the splendid covered private balcony terrace here which is especially big.

The quality throughout is very good, with comfortable furnishings, modern fixtures and tasteful décor. To one side of the building is indeed a rose garden, with seating under a pergola, views to the harbour and a BBQ area in the corner for guests' use.

Air Conditioning: available at a local charge of €3 per day (studio), €6 per day (1-bedroom).
